The continuous internal assessment structure at DIPSER provides feedback on the efficacy of the teaching-learning process, and learning outcomes, gauged through of each course, is monitored thoroughly.

As part of the course outcomes of papers taught in M.Ed., students are assessed for their skill building, conceptual understanding, comprehension of research methodology, and experiential and fieldwork learning capabilities. The internship in schools and TEIs undertaken by students are also evaluated by a committee of teachers for their application of learning from across courses. The assessment of dissertations of M.Ed. students are evaluated by external examiners.

Yet another parameter for evaluating the efficacy of our programmes is the current status of our Alumnae, which is tracked by the Institute Placement Cell which maintains a database and updates it regularly.
